

David Berriman reveals how using Andrew Reynolds Cash on Demand system turned his life around...

DAVID BERRIMAN DESCRIBES himself as a 33 year old family man. He lives in the beautiful county of Durham in the North of England with lovely wife Samantha and son Luke. They appear to be a typical British family. However they are an untypical and extraordinary family for their average income is over £18,000 per month.

And they earn this money from their Cash on Demand home-based business which Berriman started in a weekend.

These days the Berrimans share a lot of their time with their son Luke, because their Cash on Demand online business only takes up 2-3 hours a week. They drive around in their Mercedes ML 4x4 Jeep, they purchased for cash. Their home is a wonderful 4 bedroom 4 bathroom detached house with large gardens. And in the last 18 months, Berriman has banked £371,683 from his Cash on Demand business.

You could be forgiven for assuming Berriman has some special skill or that he comes from a privileged background; neither is true. This lifestyle is all so far removed from what their family life was like before a terrible crime acted as a 'wake up' call for Berriman.

“It’s a great feeling being able to not just buy the things you want yourself, but to be able to help your family out too”

It happened one morning on the way back home from delivering some leaflets. Berriman’s wife Samantha called him in panic SCREAMING down the phone:-

“Dave, Someone’s Been Shot Outside Our House!”

Berriman’s story before this crime impacted on his life so dramatically is what makes him a typical family man, an ordinary guy.

The little North East village he grew up in, literally comprised of two streets of terraced houses and a workingman’s club. Berriman saw how most people never really got anywhere no matter how hard or long they worked.

His own parents were no different. His mum was a cleaner and his dad, a site labourer, They were amongst the hardest working people you could come across. But despite this they never really got anywhere. Berriman watched his mum and dad struggle to pay the bills. They could never afford to go on holiday abroad. They stayed in that same tiny terraced house and just ‘existed’.

Berriman was determined not to end up the same way, although he doesn’t think there was anything wrong with the way his parents lived, if someone is happy with it. After finishing full time education, with no qualifications he looked for things to do where he could combine something he enjoyed doing with his ‘work’. As a result he eventually became a Personal Martial Arts Trainer – which has nothing to do with his present Cash on Demand business.

About 4 years ago he started renting the local church hall and holding simple Martial Arts classes locally. However, within a year he knew he would barely make a living wage from it. So he decided to expand. He opened his own Martial Arts Academy.

Berriman admits he felt he had finally arrived and was heading for the big time. Unfortunately, he very soon discovered that the exact opposite was true.

And that is why Berriman appreciates the huge differences between running the Martial Arts Academy and his present Cash on Demand business.

On the surface the Martial Arts Academy appeared successful. He had more work than he could handle. So he took on staff to help him. But it brought him problems and less money. With his Cash on Demand online business, he doesn't need staff.

The Martial Arts Academy also had massive overheads. Today, Berriman doesn't worry about overheads, his 'office' for his Cash on Demand business is his laptop.

His dream of running his own academy became a huge nightmare. Far from leading an enjoyable, fulfilled and relaxed life, it was killing him.

Berriman's typical day started at 5:30am so he could post flyers through front doors to get more students - there was always a large turnaround of kids.

He usually got back home around 8am. It was a rushed breakfast before shooting off again at 8:30 to open up the studio. As soon as he was there he'd have to clean the place, including the loos and wash the towels because there was never enough money left at the end of the week out of the takings, to pay cleaners.

When that was completed the rest of the morning and early afternoon was taken up with administration or dealing with some staff or business problem. Berriman would then run some classes, often having to miss lunch, before facing the rush which started from 3.30pm (straight after school) until around 10.30pm.

So by the time he'd cleared up and locked up, it was around 11:30pm when he got home. After a quick bite to eat it was after midnight by the time he got to bed. After 4 – 5 hours sleep, he got up to repeat the same routine all over again. He repeated this routine 6 days a week even teaching at the Academy a few hours on Sundays too.

It was an ongoing battle and consumed virtually every waking hour.

Berriman says running his Cash on Demand business couldn't be more different. Typically the Berrimans make a few simple checks using their laptop each day over a glass of wine in the evening or a fresh coffee in the morning over breakfast. That's all they need to do. It takes them about 2 hours a day to run the system when they need to. Most days they just check results which takes them about 30 minutes and the rest of the day they're free to do as they please.

While running the Martial Arts Academy, Berriman was on this merry go round of working virtually around the clock, ploughing money back into the business and he was worse off than when he started. The Berrimans were living in a grotty run down council estate in one of the less lovely locations in town.

It was exactly the type of place Berriman had set out to escape from in the first place. And to make matters worse, his son was asleep when Berriman went out in the mornings and always in bed when he came home.

And then that fateful day arrived when Berriman got the call from Samantha, "Dave, someone's been shot outside our house!"

Their son Luke had been playing outside. As Berriman turned the corner into his road just a few yards from his house there were armed police everywhere, flashing blue lights, an ambulance and lots of shouting and commotion. Berriman couldn't believe it. There had been a feud going on over drug turf and it had escalated to the point of a drive-by shooting. Only half an hour ago he had been standing in that same spot and just minutes after his son had been playing on his bike.

“Berriman is happy to maintain their present lifestyle, and bring in around £400,000 a year working in his spare time from home and enjoy plenty of free time as a family.”

Berriman and his wife stood in their kitchen and hugged. They were tired of their lives, of the work, the crime in the area and the hopelessness of it all.

So there and then Berriman made a promise he would change the way they lived, he would take his family away from all this and find a better way for them to live.

First, Berriman got another instructor to take over the gym. Over the following months he began searching for something that could make him the sort of money he needed for his family to leave the run down council estate.

His breakthrough came about a year later when he was at a friend's house. As they chatted, in the background Berriman kept hearing this little noise.

BEEP ... BEEP ... BEEP!

It was going off every few minutes and it was money coming into his friend's online bank account. Berriman was amazed the computer beeped about 20 times in the time they had coffee. His friend then went on to show him all the money that came in when they were drinking coffee!

For Berriman it proved to be a light bulb moment.

He was hooked on the idea of making money which came in automatically without leaving home, without hassle and all while having fun with friends. It turned out to be the perfect solution.

The first month the Berrimans used the Cash on Demand system they banked £8,730. And it hasn't stopped. In fact, up to date they have already deposited exactly £371,683.00, in the last 18 months. In other words, that's an average of over £18,000 A MONTH!

They have already started plans to build their own £3/4 million pound dream home and meantime they are living in their luxury 4 bed 4 bathroom home.

The family man in Berriman wanted to help other members of his family to enjoy the same amount of freedom the Cash on Demand business was giving him with his wife Samantha and son Luke.

It went so well that his brother Steve and then his wife, Sarah used the system. They are both making a great weekly income. Berriman even got his sister, Stacey involved. She borrowed the system from him and although she's just started, already she's pulled in well over £10,000.

And his Mum has just got involved too. Berriman says, "It's a great feeling being able to not just buy the things you want yourself, but to be able to help your family out too".

So, in a nutshell, Berriman has gone from living on a council estate to buying a wonderful 4-Bedroom Detached Home with a Beautiful Garden for his son to play in safely. And he's used the Cash on Demand system, to provide an income for his mum, brother, wife and his sister too.

Recently the Berrimans were in the USA on a wonderful holiday staying in a 5 star luxury hotel, The Gaylord Opryland in Nashville Tennessee when from his laptop came this little noise:-

BEEP ... BEEP ... BEEP!

It was the same noise he'd heard in his friend's house about 18 months previously, only now he was over 3,000 MILES away on holiday with his family and that beeping was money coming into their bank account.

"It's a great feeling earning money when you're not even working when you're just enjoying life".

“ It's all about lifestyle for Berriman now and doing the things he enjoys as a family and individually.”

For example, £29,217.37 was deposited into the Berrimans account automatically in just 1 month when they weren't even working the system. In fact, all they did for this 'easy money' was something which took Berriman about 3 minutes of his time!

Berriman said their success has been made without taking big risks, without working hard for it and without any previous experience!

Berriman admitted he'd never heard of the Cash on Demand business before or even what the system actually is. He was pleasantly surprised to discover it was not Stocks and Shares or Arbitrage Betting, or Tax-Free Trading, or a Dot.Com Business, or Email Marketing, or Online Auctions. It was definitely not a silly get rich scheme, not MLM, or gambling, or Investments or even property.

And yet the Cash on Demand system makes a huge fat percentage of profits which it returns week in week out regardless of the economic climate!

Berriman was also surprised at how virtually anyone regardless of where they are at the moment can understand and work the Cash on Demand system.

Realistically, Berriman is now in a position where the Cash on Demand system is already on target to bring him in around another £450,000 this year!

It's all about lifestyle for Berriman now and doing the things he enjoys as a family and individually. For instance, for the first time he was able to indulge in paragliding which was something he'd wanted to do for years. His Cash on Demand business gives him the time and money.

Berriman is happy to maintain their present lifestyle, and bring in around £400,000 a year working in his spare time from home and enjoy plenty of free time as a family. And his wife, Samantha, thinks that's a pretty good way to live life.

Berriman admits he was looking for an easy, paint-by-numbers style blueprint that holds you by the hand and leads you step by step. And he was over the moon when he not only found that with the Cash on Demand system, but also a way to earn a £15,000-£30,000 per month income in your first 12 months working from home.

The Berrimans take holidays abroad whenever they want and fly first class and live in a beautiful house whilst having the house of their dreams built, a mortgage free house and have money to buy the things they really want. All this is from their Cash on Demand business.
